T. O. King Addresses Local Rotarians

The regular meeting of the Raymond Rotary Club was held Monday last at the Second Ward Chapel. Twenty-one members were present, and did full justice to the splendid supper prepared by the Primary ladies.

T. O. King, recently elected President of the Alberta Trustees Association was speaker of the evening, and dealt with the recently enacted matter of the Larger School Unit, which is now operating in many districts of Alberta. Speaking of the benefits which the Department hoped would result from the enlarged unit he mentioned, in-school opportunities for many more of the rural students, better teaching in all schools, greater economy in administration, and a general higher standard amongst the teachers because of closer individual supervision and association of teachers and inspectors. He stated that there were many schools in Western Canada where the enrollment did not exceed five pupils, and that even the most meagre of wages for a teacher, in charge of such a few pupils made the cost per head for schooling very high. The large unit it was hoped would overcome a great deal of this.

Turning to the problem in the way of the successful operation of the scheme, he mentioned climatic and road conditions over which, as was shown this winter, we really have very little control. In districts where blizzards are unknown and where roads can always be kept open, the larger unit works out very well, and he mentioned districts in British Columbia, Idaho and Utah, where he carried the students as much as 30 miles back and forth each day to school, and where the big unit works very well. If it succeeded here, he feared dormitories would be absolutely essential, and he was not at all sure that parents would care to have their little six and seven year old children in dormitories for weeks at a time. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker for his interesting remarks.

Geo. Brewerton gave a brief talk on "Laughing" and more joviality. The Club agreed to co-operate in taking the Opera singers to Cardston Monday night.

The National Anthem closed a very interesting meeting.

Wheat prices reached a seven year high Wednesday when Winnipeg quotations were 126 and 5-8 at the high point of the day.

Death came to Lieut.-Gov. P. C. H. Primrose at Government House, Edmonton, Wednesday at 2:15 a.m. after a lengthy illness. He was 73 years of age and had lived an active & colorful life on the Western frontier. He served for many years as a member of the R.N.W.M.P., and was Police Magistrate in Edmonton for many years. Recently he was appointed Lieut.-Governor of the Province. A full state funeral will be accorded him.

His death caused considerable confusion in the capital city, and the Legislature rose for a four day recess Wednesday afternoon. His successor, according to reports from the east will be named Saturday, March 20th.

LIEUT. GOV. PRIMROSE DIES AT EDMONTON

Considerable criticism is being expressed in and out of parliament circles regarding the two new bills introduced by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, the licensing act and the trades and industry act. These two measures go farther toward governmental control of business than anything that has been attempted in Canadian history, it is being said. By the government they are regarded as necessary measures leading to Social Credit but not in themselves any part of a Social Credit system.

The chief objection centres around the licensing act. Opposition critics declare it means government control over the working and business activities of the individual, or at least it gives that power to the minister of trade and industry through provisions for order-

Green And Gold Ball Amateur Night Well Attended Very Successful

The Annual Green and Gold Ball of the Taylor Stake M.I.A. was held Saturday night last in the Opera House with Cyril Roach and his Ambassadors furnishing the music. The popularity of this annual event grows steadily, and this year was no exception. Culminating the year's work in the various wards in training in grace and deportment on the ball room floor the young people get together and really do enjoy themselves.

In balloting for Queen of the Ball, Miss Olive Wilde of Welling won out over the other contestants and was duly crowned. The voting is based on the representation of the membership of the ward present based on population of the ward. This gives the opportunities of the small wards, as much as to the larger ones, and this is two years straight that Welling has won out.

The Social Credit Coal Mine Discussed

A special meeting was called at the Town Hall Raymond, to discuss the matter of the Social Credit Coal Mine.

Treas. of the Association spoke, dealing particularly with the Social Credit Miners Co-operative Association after which an interesting discussion took place. All were well satisfied with the explanations given and at the conclusion of the meeting several came forward and purchased shares in the Association.

The entire program was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd present, and the complete program was as follows: Vocal Solo, Azel Stevenson; Reading, Edna Thompson; Piano solos, Barbara Turner and Alana Redd; Reading, Louie Heninger; Vocal Solo, Monte Scoville; Reading, Thurston Smith; String Instrument and Vocal number, Oliver McLean, and children, Donald, Logan and Laura; Reading, Janet Dahl; Musical Reading, Melba King; Vocal Solo, Myra Dahl; Song and Tap Dance, Lillie Anderson; Reading, Franklin Smith; Tap Dance, Pat Lacey; Saxophone Quartette, Louis King, Milton Strong, Mac Hicken, Delbert Oler; Harmonica Duett, Crawford boys; Piano Solo, Emma Dahl; Vocal Solo, Marie O'Brien; Reading, J. Hon. Solon Low drew favorable comment from members of the Provincial House when several of them agreed that his budget speech was one of the best ever delivered, and that the taxation increases seemed to be aimed at those best able to pay the added costs. Congratulations to our local member.

The monthly meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Leavitt on March 18th, the Pres. Mrs. Jack Miller being in the chair. The drawing of the quilt was held over until the April meeting on account of some not having their chances sold.

Mrs. Ira McBride had the first aid School Kit refilled. Roll call was answered by giving up to date points on Legislation, and a short paper on Legislation given by Mrs. James Fisher.

The Raymond W. I. sent $16. in to the radium fund.

The District Conference that is to be held in Lethbridge April 1st and 2nd was discussed and plans made to attend.

The door prize donated by the Pres. Mrs. Jack Miller was won by Mrs. C. Rolfsen. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Hall April 8th.

Because of the higher wheat prices, and the fact that possibility of higher corporation taxes is holding back the usual acreage sign up for beets, farmers are threatening a strike as to beet growing. The Dominion Government's lack of action with respect to the sugar tax now imposed is also a contributing factor. Not much is heard here, but other locals are maintaining that no beets will be contracted for until the situation is ironed out.

Several relief matters were discussed and Councillor MacPhee instructed to handle them. Tax notices are now going out, and the Court of Revision will be held on Tuesday evening, April 20th.

The gravelling program, started last winter, will be completed now, and those interested in working off tax arrears, or other old bills and relief, should get in touch with Geo. E. Court at once. The gravel hauling will commence as soon as teams can get into and out of the gravel pit without difficulty.

Time not needed on this work will be spent on chimer and gravel hauling to improve streets and paths.

A FAILURE MAY NOT BE A FAILURE

A young business man realized about 2 years ago that his debts were piling up too fast. His creditors were crowding him some, were refusing to ship goods. He took himself to one side and said, "Tom, you might as well admit it, you're a failure."

But Tom wouldn't admit it. He said by way of self defense, "No, I'm not a failure. This business may be, but I'm not. There are too many businesses like this here. We all have speers of price-cutting in an effort to corral enough customers to make a go of it—but you can't make money on cut-prices."

His other self then reasoned, "Well, if it isn't you, let's see you make a success of something."

So Tom figured for days and days, and probably nights and nights if the truth were known, on this subject: What does this town most need?

He finally came to the conclusion that a modern storage warehouse would fill a real need?

For three months he studied storage and the laws pertaining thereto. He visited great warehouses in nearby cities. He consulted with those who knew him.

To make a long story shorter, Tom is today reaping the fruits of his naturally successful talents, properly applied.

How we can make Raymond best contribute to the personal efficiency of everyone living here is a problem.

Yes, it is just that, a problem. Let us study our town, see what is really needed or what already here needs our help. Then let us make conditions right and help the laws of human adjustment work.

BUILDING UP A TOWN

An exchange offer the following advice on how to build up a town:

Talk about it.
Write about it.
Speak well of it.
Help to improve it.

Beautify the streets.
Patronize its merchants.
Advertise in its newspaper.
Elect good men to all offices.
Speak well of its enterprising public-spirited citizens.

If you are rich, invest in something, employ somebody, be a hustler.

If you don't think of any good word to say, don't say anything bad about it.

Remember, every dollar you invest in a permanent improvement is that much on interest.

Be courteous to strangers that come amongst us, so that they go away with good impressions.

Always cheer up the men who go in for improvements. Your portion of the cost will only be what is just.

Don't kick about any necessary public improvement because it is at your own door or for fear your taxes may be raised fifteen cents.

Above all never send a dollar out of town that you can use for the same purpose in town.

Buy your goods, employ labor pay your taxes at home.—Amberburg Echo.

PREVENTION OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Mothers, do you realize that fifty years ago 'black' diphtheria wiped out whole families in a very short period of time. Like a plague it swept through many towns and villages, leaving death in its trail, and very little could be done about it. Today most towns and cities are practically free from diphtheria. This dramatic change in the picture is largely due to the development of diphtheria toxoid, which prevents the disease in children and adults. The giving of the diphtheria toxoid produces no discomfort.

Another disease which in the past has caused disfigurement and death is smallpox. Today it is practically unheard of in this country. This state of affairs again is due to the widespread use of vaccination against the disease. Diphtheria toxoid and vaccination against smallpox have prevented two of the worst plagues of mankind and all parents should have their children protected against these diseases.

There are other contagious diseases which altogether not absolutely preventable like diphtheria and smallpox, can be modified and in some cases prevented by early recognition and treatment. The most serious diseases of the latter group are scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough. Contrary to the generally accepted idea that all children develop these diseases and recover from them, is the fact that death occurs from all three in certain infants and young children. Pneumonia following measles and whooping cough is often a cause of death. Remember mothers, your baby or young child may be one of the less fortunate and develop complications from scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough which may cause life-long disease or death. Never allow your child to be exposed to contagious diseases with the excuse that he will get them sometime anyway.

The family physician should always be consulted when any suspicion is aroused that a contagious disease has attacked your child. The physician will be able either to prevent these diseases or modify their severity by early treatment.

Questions concerning health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

The debate on the budget will continue through the week, with J. J. Bowlen, Liberal leader, leading off Monday as that party's financial critic. It is not possible to predict with any degree accuracy how long this debate will last, but it is not likely to be ended before Saturday next.

Friday last eight bills reached the second reading stage and passed through that formality. They are now ready to be given third reading.

WEEKLY LETTER

SPRING FEED REQUIREMENTS FOR HORSES

Despite the increasing use of tractors a large part of the farm work of western Canada is still done with horses, and at this time of the year these require special attention in order to put them in proper condition for spring work. This would appear to be especially essential this year after the extreme winter and the feed shortage which has been experienced in many districts, as undoubtedly a large number of horses are in a relatively poor condition. Furthermore due to the feed shortage it may be of interest to our readers to have a general estimate of the amount of feed required per horse during the spring season.

The amount of feed required for horses at steady work is approximately 2-4 pounds of feed per day per hundred pounds of weight of the horse, this amount of feed to include both the hay and grain. The amount of hay to be fed should not exceed 1-4 pounds per hundred pounds of weight, and the remainder of the ration should be made up of grain though these proportions may be varied somewhat depending on the cost of hay and grain. It is estimated that for practical purposes approximately 3 pounds of hay will replace one pound of grain and on this basis it is possible to determine whether the grain ration should be increased or decreased in relation to the hay ration.

However, there is a practical limit to the amount of hay which a horse can eat and it is not good practice to increase the total amount of hay fed much above the figure already quoted. Hay is a bulky feed and the horse's digestive system, unlike the cow's, is not constructed to handle a large amount of such feed, particularly during periods of work.

On the basis of the figures given a 1500 pound horse will require from 15 to 20 pounds of hay per day and from 12 to 15 pounds of grain per day throughout the working season to maintain normal condition and perform work satisfactorily. If the animals are in poor condition it may be necessary to increase this amount slightly in order that they may build up their strength. This would indicate that the average horse would require between 500 and 600 pounds of hay and about 425 pounds of grain per month for the working season, and this should provide a basis from which an estimate of the feed required by the individual farmer can be calculated readily.

It may not be amiss to remind our readers that horses should also be supplied with a plentiful supply of clean, fresh water, and that they should also have regular access to salt. If horses are confined and stable fed, salt should be supplied regularly and can be given either loosely in the grain box or mixed with the grain in the amount of grain fed, or the proportion of 1 per cent of about 2 ounces per head per day.

ACCIDENT LEADS TO MAJOR INDUSTRY

A cow kicking over a lamp, they say, started the Chicago fire. A spider climbing a thread brought Bruce of Scotland victory. But these and many other like historical incidents pale before the story of the housewife whose carelessness founded one of the most important phases of this Canadian fish industry.

Away back in a Scottish village a housewife left a haddock hanging from the rafters of her cottage as she went out for the day. She had left it too near the peat fire, however, and when she returned the fish was all dried by the smoke from the fire. She decided to cook it anyway and the result was so appetizing that the news spread like wildfire and smoked fish became a national delicacy.

Today the popularity of smoked fish has spread everywhere and the appetite for this delicacy has founded Canadian organizations of international repute, some of which have been established for a century and more.

The Canadian climate has been found ideal for the production of this delicacy and other cured fish and today the Dominion holds a foremost place in world trade in the export of dried, smoked, and pickled fish.

Prof. Barnhart Believes In Paper Advertising

"Newspaper advertising builds confidence and good will, attracts new customers, increases sales, and stabilizes merchandise, methods and prices." So says Prof. Thomas F. Barnhart of the University of Minnesota.

He has given the matter considerable thought. From his experience and observations he has come to 14 definite conclusions.

1. Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.
2. A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.
3. The newspaper advertisement, as part of the complete paper, goes to the home as a welcome guest.
4. The newspaper advertisement can have as much reader interest and news value as the news items.
5. The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of space.
6. Newspaper advertising is flexible.
7. Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.
8. Newspaper advertising may be adjusted to different conditions.
9. Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers and dealers to state where their products may be bought.
10. Newspaper advertising is inexpensive. Merchants have learned that it costs more families for less money than any other form of advertising.
11. Newspaper advertising results may be checked.
12. Newspaper circulation is known and is comparatively unaffected by daily change.
13. Nearly all of a newspaper's circulation is concentrated in its own market.
14. Newspaper advertising reduces selling costs because it entails no waste circulation. This helps reduce costs for the consumer.

"Silent Barriers" is Splendid Canadian Film

Silent Barriers, the film epic of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which had its Empire premiere under the patronage of Her Majesty Queen Mary, and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, in London recently, and its Canadian premiere in Montreal, and which depicts one of the most important chapters in the history of the British Commonwealth of Nations, will be shown in theatres from coast to coast during the current month. The story, based on Alan Sullivan's book "The Great Divide," brings back and vitalizes the titanic struggle with nature waged by the giants of pioneer railroading in this country, and particularly in the seemingly impossible task of thrusting the road through the Rocky Mountain barrier. The story has a tremendous Canadian historical value, as well as being first rate entertainment. The film, a Gaumont British production, was made at Revelstoke, B.C., and in the surrounding mountain area. It includes such great stars as Richard Arlen, Barry MacKay, Antoinette Cellier, Lilli Palmer, and J. Farrell MacDonald. In it the men who would not acknowledge defeat again play their parts. The lay-out shows a re-enactment of the historic scene when Sir John Macdonald pledged the support of his Government to the enterprise. Left to right are shown George Stephen, William Van Horne, R. B. Angus, Sir John Macdonald, T. G. Shaughnessy and Donald Smith. Picture No. 2 shows one of the tense moments of the play and is a scene between Richard Arlen and Lilli Palmer.
